RAJAPARK INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL

ISSN: 3056-9354 (Online)

Vol. 2 No. 2 May – August 2025

Aims and Scope

Welcome to the Rajapark International Journal, a respected academic publication dedicated to exploring the diverse and fascinating fields of humanities and social sciences. We publish three times a year in three distinct volumes:

- January - April
- May - August
- September - December

Each volume delves into current research, insightful analysis, and diverse perspectives on critical issues within these broad fields. We offer a platform for established scholars and emerging minds to engage in meaningful dialogue, pushing the boundaries of intellectual understanding and enriching the academic landscape.

Join Our Community:

We invite you to explore the wealth of knowledge and thought-provoking discussions within the Rajapark International Journal. Whether you are a scholar, student, or simply an individual with a keen interest in the humanities and social sciences, we welcome you to join our vibrant community of knowledge seekers.

Preface

Nowadays, Thailand faces significant corruption, so all levels of the government in Thailand need to be concerned about these issues; thus, corruption in government can be viewed as one of the most complex problems faced by political and economic systems around the globe. Corruption is generally defined as the use of public authority for private gain. It takes various forms, including bribery, fraud, embezzlement, nepotism, and other types of rent-seeking behavior (Rose-Ackerman & Palifka, 2016). Although corruption is not a new concept, its persistent existence in both developed and developing countries presents significant challenges in eliminating it. - The global costs of corruption are staggering, and the World Economic Forum (2018) estimated that $2.6 trillion is lost every year in corrupt acts, or 5% of global gross domestic product (GDP). Corruption has financial costs, but also leads to decreased trust in institutions, inefficient public services, and less overall economic growth in the long run

These issues have four articles, as follows:

- 1. Disciplinary Competitions Promote College Students' Innovation and Entrepreneurship: A Case Study of International Economics and Trade
